

Description

Midden behind the Rondawels site. The Rondawels is a complex of corbelled buildings lying in an isolated location on the farm Eendefontein in the Loxton area of the Great Karoo. The complex consists of a building with a round base – the first on the site, and a later square-based corbelled building with a flat-roofed building constructed on either side.

Specifications

Country: South Africa

Region: South Africa

Site: Corbelled Buildings

Provenance: Corbelled Buildings

Digitization method: Photogrammetry/Laser Scanner

Photos / scans number: 253 / 2 scans

Model URL: <https://globaldigitalheritage.org/model/midden-3-at-rondawels-site/>