

Description

These architectural remains are possibly the wall of the qibla and the mihrab of the private oratory of the Nasir Alcázar in the Islamic city of Mursiya (Murcia, Spain). This oratory, which has been dated to the 12th century, appeared richly decorated, retaining color in many areas. Originally it was part of the residence of the Muslim kings of Murcia. Currently these remains are under the church of San Juan de Dios.

3D model made using six FAROFocus 3D laser scan positions processed in Reality Capture. Additional processing completed in Geomagic Wrap, InstantMeshes, Blender, and Substance Designer.
